Dear Amanda Tallman,

Congratulations! Because your GPA is 3.5 or above, you are invited to participate in the PMC Spring 2001 Honors Seminar (HS290). This is a six week, two-credit course, that will meet on Mondays, from 6-8pm, starting on February 26, and ending on April 9. This year's topic is Paradoxical Possibilities: Technology and the Human Experience. With faculty from a variety of disciplines we will explore some of the many ways in which we are shaped and influenced by technologies that have come to dominate our lives. If you are intrigued by the notion of rabbits that glow in the dark or creating a cyber self or contemplating the meaning of living in our wired world, this spirited discussion class is for you.

If you would like to participate, please register for the course by Friday, February 2. After you register we will be in touch with you with more details. In the meantime, if you would like more information please feel free to contact any of us below (Chester, x7106; Griswold, x7083; Thompson, x7133).

Sincerely,

Honors Seminar Coordinators:

Uvia Lane Chester, Dean of the College and Professor of Psychology
